

Journals (& Writer's Notebooks):

a resource for writers

---

The slides following this one are from the presentation I gave at the NCTE Conference in 2017 in St. Louis, MO. We hope you will save this PDF as your electronic handout from that presentation; feel free to distribute this handout among your colleagues who were unable to attend our session.

If you are logged in to Pinterest as you navigate this slideshow, clicking on the student samples will take you to my Pinterest Boards where you can re-pin or save the samples to your own computer or Pinterest account.

If you see a hyperlink for a lesson or a resource in this PDF, clicking on that hyperlink will take you to our website where the lesson or resource is permanently stored.

The Always Write website

<http://corbettharrison.com>

The WritingFix website

<http://writingfix.com>

Corbett Harrison

corbett@corbettharrison.com

<http://corbettharrison.com>

Journals (& Writer's Notebooks):

a resource for writers

---

Complimentary Samples for Teachers Who Attended our NCTE Workshop

1. December and January \(modified\) Writer's Notebook Bingo Cards—a scaffolding too for all writers to help establish and maintain the routine.
2. December and January set of Sacred Writing Time Slides—these serve as a my daily reminder to my students of our SWT routine, and each slide comes with four possible jumping off points for writing, if the student doesn't have a topic.
3. Italian Menu of Writing Choices for advanced writers — ideas for writers workshop and advanced notebook ideas.

Corbett Harrison

corbett@corbettharrison.com

<http://corbettharrison.com>